When reflecting on 2015 the word that comes to mind is “champion”. This past year was a championship year for our city and for Kansas City Parks and Recreation.

Clearly, the highlight was in November when the Kansas City Royals became the World Series Champions. What a thrill it was for our department to play such an important supporting role during the World Series run and ensuing city-wide celebration. Our magnificent fountains flowed blue and Royals flags flew high throughout post season play. Additionally, our world-class Boulevard and Parkway system was showcased as the Royal Celebration Parade made its way down Grand Boulevard and Pershing Road to the delight of 800,000 adoring fans, many of whom were watching from Penn Valley Park.

In October, The FC Kansas City Blues, our women’s professional soccer team, won their second back-to-back NWSL championship. Blue madness then turned to red when the Kansas City Chiefs went on an 11-game winning streak resulting in a franchise record for most consecutive victories in a row and earning their first playoff win in 22 years.

Kansas City received more accolades when KC Parks was one of only four departments in the country chosen as a finalist for the prestigious National Parks and Recreation Association’s 2015 Gold Medal Award. Although we did not take the top honor, we are still considered among the nation’s elite agencies and champions in our own right.

The Kansas City Museum at Corinthian Hall celebrated 75 years as a public museum and made great strides in planning for the future as preliminary design concepts and space applications for a site-wide restoration and rehabilitation were completed. Furthermore, operation of the Historic Garment District Museum on Broadway was assumed by the Kansas City Museum and the collection of locally-made garments and accessories acquired by KC Parks.

Several attractions and amenities within the KC Parks system enjoyed record-breaking annual attendance including the Kansas City Zoo with 911,000 and the National World War I Museum and Memorial with 282,588. More than 3,200 animals were rehabilitated at the Lakeside Nature Center, and KC Parks Athletics programs experienced a 42% increase in participation.

Our distinguished “City of Fountains” heralded the completion of an extensive renovation to the iconic J.C. Nichols Fountain and we were delighted to reenergize the Seville Light Fountain—after a seven-year sabbatical—on Fountain Day. Donations continue to flow in to the Wish Upon A Fountain campaign to support our fountains with the most critical restoration needs.

Together with the citizens of Kansas City, we completed work on our department’s plans for the next five years. The Strategic Business Plan for the Parks and Recreation addresses our community’s changing demographic profile, economic challenges, enhanced needs for open space, protection of natural resources and the growing demand for quality parks, facilities and services.

As a testimony to our outstanding employees, the City’s citizen satisfaction scores improved in three major categories including maintenance of parks, maintenance of Boulevards and Parkways and maintenance of athletic fields. We continue to listen and respond to our residents in order to provide top-notch programs and amenities that best serve our public and champion our cause.

I’d like to thank our Board of Parks and Recreation Commissioners who as dedicated volunteers provide strong leadership and advocacy for our department. We are very proud of our accomplishments in 2015 and encourage you to read more about them in this Year in Review.

Your ongoing support is appreciated and I look forward to another championship year in 2016.

Sincerely,

Mark L. McHenry

MISSION

To improve the quality of life, health and wellness of our community by providing socially equitable, community-driven programming and environmentally sound natural resource management.
The purpose of the renovation was to restore the entire rose garden to reflect the original 1931 design.
LOOSE PARK ROSE GARDEN PROJECT COMPLETED

A commemoration of the completion of the Laura Conyers Smith Rose Garden 14-year restoration project was held on May 31 as part of the Kansas City Rose Society’s annual Rose Day festivities.

This fourth and final phase of the process included the restoration of all 64 stone pillars encircling the rose garden and the installation of new redwood cedar pergolas atop the structures. Additionally, the bronze plaques announcing the garden that had been stolen in the 1940s were replicated and placed at each main garden entry. Previous improvements, which began in 2002, included the installation of the Italian limestone fountain; new grading, drainage, irrigation, and sod; construction of the north and east gardens; installation of an interior circular walking path and the planting of 1,200 new roses in the re-defined beds; new name tags for all the rose plants and installation of viburnums in the northeast quadrant of the main garden.

The purpose of the renovation was to restore the entire rose garden to reflect the original 1931 design developed by the firm of Hare & Hare. Corporations, Foundations, trust funds and individuals contributed $2 million to fund the endeavor. Funds raised from Rose Society events, such as the annual Wine & Roses Garden Party, also helped support the project.

Established in 1931, the collaboration between the Kansas City Rose Society and the Kansas City, Missouri, Board of Parks and Recreation Commissioners is KC Parks longest running partnerships.
MEMORIALS DEDICATED

FIREFIGHTERS FOUNTAIN AND MEMORIAL
A new 1% for the Arts project was dedicated on September 11 at the Firefighters Fountain and Memorial in Penn Valley Park. Arizona artist Barbara Grygutis’ artwork consists of two large curved walls of perforated aluminum panels mounted on a low limestone wall. Solid aluminum plaques are etched with the names of fallen firefighters and are lit from inside with blue LED lights to create a peaceful atmosphere and to symbolize knowledge, integrity, seriousness, reliability and trust. The original granite bases remain in the circle and have new metal panels attached which describe significant events in the history of Kansas City’s Fire Department.

SKYWALK MEMORIAL PLAZA
After breaking ground for the project in July, the long-awaited Skywalk Memorial Plaza was dedicated in Hospital Hill Park on November 12. The memorial, located across the street from the former Hyatt (now Sheraton) Hotel, honors the first responders and victims of the Hyatt skywalk collapse on July 17, 1981 that claimed the lives of 114 people and injured more than 200 others. The plaza is designed to provide a place of reflection for those affected by the tragic event and includes a sculpture created by international award winning artist and Kansas City native Rita Blitt. The 24-foot tall sculpture, “Sending Love,” evokes the spirit of two people dancing and resides on a base that lists the names of the 114 people who lost their lives in the collapse while attending the Tea Dance.
On the afternoon of May 16, thousands of walkers, cyclists, skaters and skateboarders took over a portion of Ward Parkway for Cycle in The City, an inaugural, open streets festival presented by the City’s Bike KC program.

Cycle in the City was designed to encourage urban exploration in an innovative, healthy, social and fun environment without the interference of motor vehicle traffic. Attendees had the opportunity to bike, walk, roll, stroll, jog and play on one of Kansas City’s most beautiful thoroughfares. Family-friendly entertainment was stationed throughout the two-mile course loop and included a DJ, climbing wall, yoga and dance classes, BMX demonstrations, food stands, lawn games and more.

Cycle in the City was inspired by similar, highly-popular events held in cities around the world, commonly known as Ciclovias. The event was paid for with a federal transportation grant and local sponsorships.

Healthy Food Programs Offered at Community Centers

Vending machines were removed from all ten KC Parks Community Centers in February to allow for a transition to concession sales which provided healthier snack options. Prior to the removal, center patrons were surveyed to determine their interest and preferred snack choices. More than 80% of the respondents felt that healthier options were important with motivators for purchasing being affordability, convenience and nutrition. Trail mix, granola bars and protein bars were the top snack choices.

The healthier concessions program is a partnership with MU Extension and the City of Kansas City, MO Health Department to pilot Eat Smart in the Parks programs at all KC Parks Community Centers. The program is partially funded by a Healthy Eating Active Living (HEAL) grant the Health Department received from the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services.

An additional grant, also from the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services, made it possible for all KC Parks Community Centers to implement a Summer Food Service Program (SFSP). The program helped assure that eligible populations would have access to nutritious meals during the summer months, thereby reducing the risk for health problems and enhancing learning capacities in areas of economic need. KC Parks Community Centers served more than 20,000 SFSP meals during the summer of 2015.

GOLD MEDAL AWARD FINALIST

The American Academy for Park and Recreation Administration, in partnership with the National Recreation and Park Association, selected Kansas City, MO Parks and Recreation as one of four Class I category finalists for the 2015 National Gold Medal Awards for Excellence in Park and Recreation Management.

The three other finalists included: Cleveland, Ohio Metroparks; Mesa, Arizona Parks, Recreation and Commercial Facilities; and The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, who ultimately received the Grand Plaque.

Founded in 1965, the Gold Medal Awards program honors communities in the U.S. that demonstrate excellence in parks and recreation through long-range planning, resource management, volunteerism, environmental stewardship, program development, professional development and agency recognition. Applications are separated into seven classes, with five classes based on population, one class for armed forces recreation and one class for state park systems awarded on odd numbered years. Agencies are judged on their ability to address the needs of those they serve through the collective energies of citizens, staff and elected officials.

“We are always pleased to be among the elite agencies competing for the top honor,” said KC Parks Director Mark L. McHenry. Also a finalist in 2011, KC Parks has never won the Gold Medal Award.

DIRECTOR RECOGNIZED FOR 40 YEARS OF SERVICE TO CITY
KC Parks employees honored Director Mark McHenry for 40 Years of Service to Kansas City, MO Parks and Recreation at an Awards Breakfast held May 20 at the Swope Park Bandstand.

More than 200 employees unveiled specially-designed T-shirts featuring a caricature of Director McHenry in a surprise tribute. Special guests—including current and former Parks Board Commissioners, City Manager Troy Schulte, and National World War I Museum and Memorial Director Matt Naylor—commented on Mark’s accomplishments, leadership and dedication to our City and KC Parks.

Deputy Director Terry Rynard summarized, “Mark started as a summer intern and helped Vernon Jones build the original animals at Penguin Park. He was also responsible for the construction of the new Zoo, eight new community centers, the Village at Shoal Creek, the improvements to Brush Creek, I am not sure how many fountains—but certainly the first two up north and the Bloch Fountain—renovations to Liberty Memorial and World War I Museum. He averages 75 hours of work a week so in man-hours he has really worked 75 years!”

20TH ANNIVERSARY OF CHILDREN’S FOUNTAIN

The Children’s Fountain was dedicated on June 21, 1995 and on June 19, 2015, a celebration was held to observe the 20th anniversary and to announce that $250,000 for fountain restoration had been raised through the City of Fountains Foundation’s Wish Upon A Fountain campaign.

“Playful, happy, challenging, thoughtful” are all terms used to describe this iconic Northland fountain which was designed to celebrate children. The six bronze sculptures, created by local artist Tom Corbin, were modeled after real children who lived in the Northland, several of whom made it back for the festivities.

The statues were removed in the fall in order for the lighting and concrete pedestals to be replaced, the basin to be waterproofed and electrical components, fountain walls and surrounding pavement to undergo much needed and overdue repairs. The restoration will be complete and the fountain reenergized for the 2016 season.
“Playful, happy, challenging, thoughtful” are all terms used to describe this iconic Northland fountain which was designed to celebrate children.
On October 17, celebrations were held at opposite ends of the city observing the opening of two new and improved byways.

Cliff Drive, a winding 4-mile roadway located in historic northeast Kansas City, officially reopened to one-way vehicular traffic. The drive had been closed since November 2014 for construction projects that included renovation of stairs and overlooks, road striping and improvements to bike trails. During the closure, stakeholder meetings were held which determined that upon reopening, a single eastbound lane of traffic would be accessible to vehicles and the westbound lane dedicated as bike and pedestrian only. A flexible bollard system and signage were installed to separate the lanes.

The drive closes to vehicles at dusk each weekday evening and reopens each the morning. Car Free Weekends continue with the gates closed to traffic every Friday evening and reopening on Monday morning.

On the same day in south Kansas City, a ribbon cutting for the newly completed Minor Park Connector Trail was held in conjunction with “Locktober” on the Old Red Bridge. Attendees biked or walked the 1.1 mile trail which runs along the Blue River Greenway from Alex George Lake to Minor Park Tennis Courts and then headed over to the Old Red Bridge for complimentary refreshments. A craft station was also available for participants to decorate locks before adding them to the ever-growing collection of love locks on the bridge.
