

Calling all youth, ages 10-17 years-old!

Do you like to take photos?

Do you want to help improve your community, parks, or rec center? Are you between 10-17 years old? Then apply for the KC Rec Center Youth Photovoice Project!

As part of a research project, KC Parks and Rec (KCPR) and University of Missouri are working on a new youth photography project to collect your ideas on healthy foods, food advertisements and park activities. Participants will complete a survey and participate in a group discussion, sharing ideas on what they like, want to change and hope for the future. We will be working at Brush Creek & Marlborough Rec Centers over 4 afterschool meetings (anticipated from 3 pm - 5 pm). At the end of the project, we will hold a gallery event that will display everyone's photos. Space is limited to 15 youth per center. Participants can earn up to $40, a certificate, community service hours, and get copies of their photos. For project information, contact Sonja Wilhelm Stanis at sonjaws@missouri.edu or 573.882.9524.

To participate you must:

- Be a youth ages 10-17 years old.
- Fill out the application and have your parent or guardian complete the consent form. Space is limited so return the forms by the JANUARY 6, 2016 deadline!
- Commit to spending four afterschool sessions working on this project. The sessions should last about 2 hrs each.
- Be willing to take pictures and take part in group discussions.
- Share your pictures with the public, including at a gallery event that is open to local community members, civic leaders and others.
- Complete a survey or interview about the project.
